PRODUCT CARE

Elk Accessories products are unique. Due care is required to ensure your accessories look good for as long as possible. With this in mind, we offer you the following handy hints to care for your products.

JEWELLERY

All Elk Jewellery is handmade. We predominantly use natural materials including wood, coconut wood, mother of pearl (shell), freshwater pearls, semi precious stones and sterling silver. We do sometimes use synthetic materials such as resin, brass and plastic.

All jewellery should be kept clean and dry. It is vital you ensure you do not spray the jewellery with any liquid including water, perfume, hair sprays etc. Timber jewellery is hand dyed and we cannot guarantee its colour fastness if it is not kept dry. The use of body oils or moisturisers may also contain some chemicals which may effect the colour of the jewellery. Should you wish to obtain more information on caring for a specific product, please email us at info@elkaccessories.com.au.

Most findings used are either sterling silver or silver plated brass. We aim to ensure all of our metal products used are nickel free, this however cannot be guaranteed 100%.

Some inconsistencies may be apparent in some materials - especially in items made from timber. These products are hand cut, hand dyed and these natural marks add to the overall appearance, they are not faults.

Handling each piece with care is integral to the longevity of your jewellery. Keep each item in a dry, safe place and preferably in the bag you receive it in. Our jewellery is handmade some pieces are delicate. Elk bears no responsibility for jewellery which is damaged from harsh treatment or careless wear.

LEATHERGOODS

We use the finest quality leathers to make our leather goods. The leather is intended to age with wear and crushed, matte and rough finishes are intentional giving the leather a distinctive look. Slight variations in colour, grain and texture are all part of leathers unique characteristics.

Do not allow the hardware to get wet.

Protective sprays can be used on most of Elk's leather goods however Elk cannot guarantee the suitability of any chemical you spray onto the leather and will not be responsible for any damage which may be experienced as a result.

We use mostly colourfast leathers. We recommend you treat the leather with care and store it in a dry environment away from direct sunlight, preferably in the care bag provided.

For more item specific care information, please email us at info@elkaccessories.com.au.

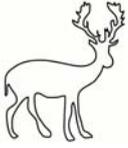

TEXTILES

Elk Accessories uses where possible pure textiles and organically grown fibres if available. Please treat with care your textile product. For the best care information - please refer to the labels attached to your product. Further information on care for specific items can be obtained by e-mailing us at info@elkaccessories.com.au.
